We notice in the Buzzard's Patent-Medicine-Lunch-Counter ad, some startling idiosyncracies in price making that look bad when reviewed from the highly-moral and purely-disinterested standpoint of this truly-good house. For instance—Scott's Emulsion and Simmon's Liver Regulator cost exactly the same at wholesale, while the aforesaid and before-mentioned truly good, highly moral and purely disinterested house quotes one at 59c and the other at 85c. Likewise, Jayne's Expectorant costs two bits a dozen less than Hood's Sarsaparilla, but consistency having no place in the Buzzard vocabulary, Mr. Hood gets a benefit at 59c., while poor old Dr. Jayne is discriminated against by an additional charge of 26c bottle (a flagrant violation of the "long and short haul" clause). Green's August Flower costs $5.25 a dozen and Ayer's Sarsaparilla $7.75, yet the Buzzard Lunch-Counter offers Ayer's Sarsaparilla for 59c, while they ask you to pay 60c for what costs them TWENTY-ONE CENTS LESS. Comment is superfluous.

The above style of "Robbing Peter to Pay Paul" is one of the features "peculiar" to "department (?) stores."

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—[By the Associated Press.] At the meeting of the Supreme Court of the United States today the Chief Justice and all associate justices except Mr. Justice Field were present. The Chief Justice said: "It is with feelings of profound sadness that I announce the death of the Senior Associate Justice of this court, Mr. Justice Miller. No business will be transacted, and the court, as a mark of respect to the memory of its eminent associate, will adjourn until Monday next."

Among the telegrams received by Mrs. Miller today was the following from Ex-President Cleveland:

Accept my sincere sympathy and condolence in this sorrowful hour, and may you receive consolation and pity from God's unfailing store, and may you find a ray of comfort in the remembrance of your husband's noble devotion to duty and his priceless services to his country.

All the district courts adjourned today, out of respect to the memory of the deceased jurist.

Messages of condolence were received from Justice Field and wife, Judge Gresham, Senator Edmunds, Gen. Sherman, C. C. Waite, son of the late Chief Justice, Mrs. Thomas A. Hendricks and many others.

Arrangements for Justice Miller's funeral were completed tonight. The services will take place Thursday afternoon between 2 and 3 o'clock in the Supreme courtroom at the Capitol, and in accordance with Mrs. Miller's desire, the ceremony will be of the simplest character. At the conclusion of the services, the remains will be placed on a special car attached to the regular train on the Pennsylvania road, leaving here at 7:40 p.m., arriving at Chicago the following evening, and at Keokuk at 10 a.m. Saturday. NEW YORK, Oct. 14. [By the Associated Press.]—The Independent will publish tomorrow articles received by telegraph from President Woodruff of the Mormon Church and Gov. Judge Zane has recognized the action of the church as sincere and final, and has rescinded the rule excluding Mormon aliens from naturalization."

Gov. Thomas says: "The manifesto of the President of the church has now been confirmed by the conference. It comes with the force of a new relation, and whatever doubt may have existed as to the purpose and effect of the manifesto as first sent out, they now seem removed. The Gentiles rejoice that the contest begun so many years ago against polygamy has finally triumphed, for they believe that never again will polygamy flourish on American soil. This is the most important event that has occurred in the Mormon church in years and they believe it will result in greatly advancing the material interests and prosperity of the territory.

ROBBED OF THOUSANDS.

A PASSENGER'S POCKETS RIFLED IN A CROWDED TRAIN.

Held Up by One Robber While Two Others Search for His Pocketbook—A Well-Planned Outrage.

By Telegraph to The Times.

PORTLAND (Or.), Oct. 14.—[By the Associated Press.] Elisha Smith, a farmer from Splitlog, Mo., was robbed of a pocket-book containing money and checks to the amount of $4785 this morning, just as the Southern Pacific train arrived from California. Smith was putting on his overcoat, and with the other passengers preparing to leave the train, when three men seized him, and while one man held him the others put their hands in his pocket and took the pocketbook. In the confusion of the crowd the robbers escaped. It is supposed that they followed him from San Francisco. He had a thousand dollars in currency in another pocket which the robbers did not get.

SCORCHED DAKOTA PRAIRIES.

Disastrous Field Fires Cause Great Damage to Farmers.

FARGO (N. D.,) Oct. 14.—[By the Associated Press.] T. S. Sanberhill, one of the railroad commissioners of North Dakota, resides at Antelope, west of the Missouri River. He reports a deplorable condition of affairs among the ranchmen in his district, resultant from the recent and almost unprecedented prairie fires. Between Hart and Cannon Ball Rivers and in the valleys of both the destruction has been complete, while about Killdeer Mountain and east of there nothing is left for the stock to live upon. At Riverside ranch, at the mouth of the Little Hart River, 500 tons of hay and 300 head of cattle were burned. At Parkins's ranch on Cannon Ball River the loss was the heaviest. Wickes's ranch lost everything except the buildings.

In all the settlements in the valleys of Hart, Cannon Ball and Knife rivers, the loss has been heavy, the fire traveling with such fury as to go completely through the villages in almost every instance. In the valleys the small farmers have lost their crops and feed for the winter. The wind blew a hurricane at Riverside ranch. Fire breaks 800 feet in width were made, but the flames leaped over them. The ranch men are inclined to lay these fires to the Indians from Fort Yates Reservation, who come up into the valleys and, driving the game south, burn the praries behind them to prevent the game from going back. The ranchmen propose to take the matter before the authorities to prevent a repetition.

WORRYING OVER THE TARIFF.

A European Conference On the McKinley Bill.

PARIS, Oct. 14.—[By Cable and Associated Press.] The Temps, commenting on the Berlin Post's statement that European governments are conferring about the McKinley tariff, declares that such a conference will amount merely to an exchange of ideas and that no precise proposals have been formulated.

MADRID, Oct., 14.—The Commission appointed by the Cortes to consider Spain's commercial relations, advises the government at the expiration of the treaties in 1892 to restore the old protective tariff of 1877.

Convention of Engineers.

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 14—The twenty-seventh annual convention of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers begins here tomorrow. The Executive Committee was in session today. One feature in the line of new business is a proposition to accept membership in the United Order of Railway Employes. Chief Arthur would not express any views on this matter, saying: "It is for the convention to decide." It is understood that General Master Workman Powderly, of the Knights of Labor, will lay an important communication before the convention, the nature of which is not known.

Heavy Storms Do Much Damage to Shipping on Lake Huron—West Virginia Drenched by a Cloudburst.

By Telegraph to The Times.

CHICAGO, Oct. 14.—[By the Associated Press.] A safe-opening test which in sensational accomplishments discounts the wonderful feat of Johnstone the mind reader, took place in the Hotel Wayne early this morning. The operator was Henry E. Adams, a young man from Minneapolis, who came to Chicago some weeks ago and took rooms at the Wayne. There he became acquainted with a young man who, although Adams did not know this, was a cousin of the proprietor. Within the past few days Adams proposed to him to rob the hotel safe. He was to get up at 4 o'clock in the morning and do this.

The hotel proprietor was advised by his cousin, who at the same time pretended to be an accomplice in Adam's plot. Two detectives were hidden in the office last night and this morning at the appointed time Adams came in. The wondering officers watched him without tools or explosives prepare to open the massive safe, although it was evident that he did not know the combination.

He pared the nail of the index finger until the blood vessels were exposed. Then by placing the sensitive wound on the knob of the combination lock he could distinguish the tumblers as they fell. For an hour he worked while the detective scarcely dared to breathe. At last there was a sharp click and Adams swung back the door.

With a sigh of relief he reached into the safe and laid his hands on a package of bills. But much to his discomforture the officers stepped forward at the same moment and placed him under arrest.

WEST VIRGINIA DRENCHED.

The Heaviest Rainfall Ever Known—Much Damage.

WHEELING, (W. Va.,) Oct. 14.—[By the Associated Press.] Dispatches from the interior, from Weston, Grafton, Philippi and other points on tributaries of the Ohio say the storm reported Sunday night extended over a wide area. Everywhere the heaviest fall of rain ever known occurred, amounting to a waterspout. All the streams are swollen and traffic entirely suspended. Great damage was done at Weston. The loss runs into the thousands.

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 14.—The storm in West Virginia Monday night did great damage to crops, buildings and railroads, particularly along the Monongahela river and tributaries. Near Clarksburg a cloudburst drenched the country. All small streams became rushing torrents. Immediately traffic on the Baltimore & Ohio, between Pittsburgh and Wheeling, closed until morning. Communication with the upper Monongahela has been entirely suspended. Only one life was lost by the storm so far.

STORM ON THE LAKES.

High Winds on Huron Cause Damage to Shipping.

DETROIT, Oct. 14.—[By the Associated Press.] The worst storm of the season is reported from up the lakes this morning. At Oscoda many vessels have taken refuge in the harbor, dragging anchors and in imminent danger of going ashore. At Port Arthur the wind is blowing forty miles an hour. A considerable portion of the new breakwater is gone. Men working on the breakwater were rescued this morning with difficulty. At Alpena a barge was blown ashore and went to pieces. A schooner went ashore in White Fish Bay. An immense fleet has taken shelter in Pigeon Bay, Lake Erie.

The association incorporated for fifty years, with the following directors: Adolphus Busch, St. Louis; John A. Hooper, San Matio; Jas. Phelan, A. B. Spreckels, Chas. A. Binkand, Herman Liebes and J. ### Killed His Wife's Lover.

LEXINGTON (N. C.,) Oct. 14.—For some time John McRary has been suspicious of the relations between his wife and Oscar Barringer. A short time ago he ordered Barringer out of his house and warned him to keep away on penalty of trouble. Last week, however, Barringer sent a note to Mrs. McRary asking for a meeting. It fell into the hands of the husband, who sent word to Barringer that he must leave the State or fight a duel. Barringer decided to fight, and the men met last Saturday. The Ladies' Benevolent Sewing Circle met yesterday at Mrs. Bradley's on Sichel street, where a goodly number spent the afternoon doing good for the poor. There will be no meeting this week, owing to the fair.

The Asbury M. E. reception for Rev. Mr. Bresee will take place at the M. E. Church this evening.

W. A. Hom is on the sick list.

The Independent Republican Club met Monday evening, President Stephens in the chair. No special business was transacted. The committee appointed to procure speakers reported that prominent speakers would be present next Monday evening to address the club. Mr. McLachlan is expected on that evening.

A very interesting and novel entertainment took place last evening at the Congregational Church, called "The Gypsy Fair." The house was as usual well filled with appreciative visitors.

D. Shults and a company of friends have taken to the mountains for a few days' recreation, trying their hands killing game. They went up the big Tejunga and over the mountains.

W. H. McDonald and wife returned from their wedding trip to San Bernadino, and are now domiciled at the bride's residence on North Hays street, near Downey avenue.

George Stockwell and family were agreeably surprised on Monday evening by a house full of his friends to assist them in celebrating their tenth wedding aniversary. The crowd continued to celebrate until a late hour.

F. M. Nickell returned yesterday from Kansas City, where he has been rusticating for his health. He says that public sentiment has changed there since last May to such an extent that nothing will sell on the streets and fruit stands except California is attached to it. He anticipates a greater boom than ever before for the Western coast.

The Republican Club meets this evening at Moore's Hall. Prominent speakers are expected to be present and deliver addresses.

The park question is again agitating the East Side, the Park Commissioners having decided not to sow any more seed this year in the East Side Park. Mayor Hazard indorses the action of the committee.

THE RAILROADS.

Conductors As Deputy Marshals—Trainmen's Convention.

In some of the States all of the conductors on passenger trains are sworn in as deputy United States marshals, and the scheme has worked like a charm. In this State conductors are not sworn in, but there is a move on foot to have them made deputy marshals, and it will undoubtedly be done in the near future.

Hardly a day passes that conductors are not called on to put hard cases from their trains, and if they had the authority, they might place them under arrest and lodge them in the nearest jail. Very often conductors meet with well-known criminals, but they do not feel like taking the responsibility of placing them under arrest, but if they could only show a badge of office they would not hesitate. Only a few days ago a Santa Fé conductor could have made an important capture, but he did not have the authority and he allowed the man to leave his train.

The railroad men in this city are making great preparations for the reception of the Trainmen's Convention in Hazard's Pavilion next week. There will be about four hundred of them in attendance, and the convention will probably be in session five or six days.

They will have a grand parade, and a general good time is promised.

The usual number of freight trains loaded with Southern California fruit left this city yesterday for the East, and strange to say, there was not a pound of Northern California fruit on the road, east of this city yesterday. Northern California is like the "mug" who fell out of the balloon. She

The Chamber of Commerce Exhibit.

AN ATTRACTIVE DISPLAY.

Almost Every Town in the County Represented — The Races at Agricultural Park — To-day's Programme.

The Sixth District Agricultural Fair opened yesterday under the auspices of the Chamber of Commerce in the exhibit hall of that institution on Main street, between First and Second streets. The attendance was large and all seemed well pleased with the display and expressed themselves as confident that the venture will be a success.

When the chamber consented to take hold of the fair, it was not generally believed that they would have room enough for all entries, but all of the offices and rooms in the front part of the building and the immense gallery have been utilized, and the managers found no trouble in placing everything. The workers were busy all of night before last and all day yesterday getting ready for the opening, and they made a good showing, but all of the decorations have not yet been placed, and the hall will present a much better appearance to-day.

The ladies of the Annex have taken an active part in arranging for the fair and have done considerable work in the way of decorating the hall.

AT AGRICULTURAL PARK.

The Opening Day of the Races a Success.

The Sixth District Agricultural Fair races yesterday afternoon opened with a perfect day at the Agricultural Park. The weather was all that could be desired, and the track was in perfect order for both runners and trotters. Unfortunately the local meeting met the same fate as the fairs in the northern part of the State, a small crowd being in attendance. Somehow or other people always wait until the close of a racing week before turning out in any numbers, and this habit tends to shroud the local director's heart in sorrow and gloom.

The attractions presented yesterday were very good, and the time made was equal to any average performance in the State. Meine Bros.' brass band was in attendance, and filled up the gap between the heats with selections of good music. Notwithstanding the small attendance, a large number of ladies were present, and the carriage grounds were lined with many stylish equipages. A novel turnout was an old-time Concord stage drawn by six horses, with Dr. Donegan handling the ribbons. It drove on the grounds loaded down with passengers. A sign on the coach informed the beholders that it was being run for the benefit of the Orphans' Fair.

The judges yesterday were J. C. Newton, J. W. Robinson and R. R. Brown.

FIRST RACE.

The opening event was the best betting race of the day, and the talent got an awful dressing down. The betting ring was crowded with anxious speculators sending twenty-dollar pieces into the pool box, and from the looks of things times are certainly not hard in this city.

At 2:15 p. m. six of as comely a lot of youngsters as can be found in the State curveted and pranced out on the track for the opening race, the Nursery stakes, a half-mile dash.

The starters were Seminola, Zingerella, Cheerful, Mystery, Lulu H and Centinella, Midnight being scratched. Seminola was the good thing with the talent, and they eagerly paid $25 to $6 for Mystery, $4 for Zingerella and $5 for the field. Seminola is the black filly recently purchased by Hon. L. J. Rose from the celebrated Dwyer Bros.

At 2:20 the six youngsters were sent to the post and made a few false starts before they finally got off.

Zingerella jumped off in the lead and cut out the running, with Mystery in close attendance and the balance well up. Going up the first quarter Zingerella still led, with Seminola a short distance ahead of Mystery and the others strung out. They kept the same order into the stretch. Zingerella increasing her lead slightly, with all the balance bunched. The run down the stretch was very exciting, Zingerella and Mystery drawing out from the crowd and fighting it out between them. O'Brien, on Zingerella, however, was caught asleep by Cook, who rode Mystery in great style. A whipping finish followed, and Mystery got the race by a short nose. From the press stand it looked as though Zingerella had won by a nose and those present in the timers' box made it out a dead heat. The judges, however, gave the race to Mystery, Zingerella second, Seminola third. Time, 0:49, a good race for the distance.

James B. Chase b f. Mystery, (Cook).....1
Artesian Villa Stables ch. b. Zingerella, (C. O'Brien).....2
L. J. Rose blk. f. Seminola, (Buneli).....3

Cheerful, Centinella and Lulu H. ran unplaced. Time, 0:49.

Two-dollar Paris Mutuals paid $8.65 straight, $3.20 place. Mystery carried five pounds over weight.

SECOND RACE.

Only two horses came out for the second event, the Pomona Stakes, a mile and a sixteenth dash. At the last moment Lurline was drawn, and Alfaralta was scratched by Billy Appleby on account of carrying eight pounds penalty. Why Lurline was drawn is unknown, as the mare was certainly able to win.

Baldwin's Gladiator and Rose's Minuet were the only starters. Minuet is a new horse here, having been purchased in the East by Senator Rose. He is by Rayon D'Or, the sire of the famous Tenny. The race was a procession from start to finish. After two false breaks, they got away with Minuet in the lead. Minuet kept increasing her lead all the way around to the stretch, where Clifford, on Gladiator, made a desperate effort to close the gap, but it was useless. The red jacket of the Rose Meade stables galloped under the wire the easiest kind of a winner by ten open lengths, Gladiator finishing very tired.

The following is the summary:

L. T. Rose's ch. m. Minuet (Burell).....1
E. J. Baldwin's b. g. Gladiator (Clifford).....2
Time 1:50¼.

Auction pools. Gladiator, $10; Minuet, $5. Paris mutuals paid $3.20 straight.

THIRD RACE.

The third race, a 2:28 trot, purse $600, best three in five, drew out a high class field of horses. The entries were Walter Maben's b. m. Lucy R, Sultan, dam Lady MacKay; Charles A. Durfee's br. h. McKinney, Alcyone, dam Rose Sprague; Earp and Brown's br. g. Jim Leach, Jim Leach, dam Inca; J. H. Delarge's b. s. Bashaw, Wapsie, dam Owendale mare. Each animal was driven by its owner.

In the first heat Lucy R was a hot favorite, selling at $25, McKinney $10 and the field $5. Once again the talent got an awful dump. Leach drew the pole, McKinney second Lucy R third and Bashaw on the outside. At 3:30, after a little preliminary scoring, they were sent off to a good start with Leach in the lead and trotting very steadily. McKinney was second and Lucy R got all tangled up going round the first turn, breaking badly, and losing all chance of winning the heat. Bashaw was a hopeless last. Rounding the first quarter Leach still led, with McKinney a length away, Bashaw four lengths back and Lucy R. two lengths behind him. Going up the half Leach still led a length from McKinney, Bashaw and Lucy R. five lengths away. Passing the half Leach drew rapidly away, and Lucy R. began to close up the big gap. She came up the back stretch like a whirlwind, and went the last quarter at a 2:18 gait. Leach, however, was too far ahead, and won in a jog in 2:29¼. McKinney a poor second, Lucy R. third, five lengths away, and Bashaw just saving his distance. Paris mutuals paid $27.70 on a $2-ticket in this heat.

POLO PONY RACE.

During the rest between heats an impromptu quarter mile dash took place between the polo ponies of the Santa Monica Polo Club. The starters were: Rex (160,) J. B. Proctor; Pepita (168,) R. P. Carter; Cigarette (135,) J. Haigh; Miss J (160,) L. B. Woodhouse; El Raton (152,) G. B. Waring. The starters on their diminutive ponies caused any quantity of amusement to the spectators, and especially the stable boy contingent, who guyed them unmercifully. They were soon sent off to a good start and came down the quarter stretch in great style. Rex won, with Pepita second and El Raton third. Time :26.

THE TROT RESUMED.

After a tedious wait of over three quarters of an hour the trotters were brought out for a second heat. Maben and Durfee began to jockey considerably, causing six false starts. Finally they were sent off with Lucy R in the lead. Lucy R shot to the front and, skillfully driven by Maden, made a procession race out of it. She was two lengths to the good at the quarter and three lengths at the half, with McKinney second. There was no change in the positions, and Lucy R went under the wire without a slip in 2:22¼, Leach second a length back and McKinney third. Bashaw got the flag, being distanced.

Paris mutuals paid $3.20 on the heat.

After another tedious wait the three horses came out for their third heat. It was soon over, Lucy R. going out in the lead and leading at the first quarter by a length. Going up the half Lucy led by two lengths, Leach second, and McKinney a length back. Lucy opened up a big gap from there to the three-quarters, where Leach began to close up. Durfee began driving McKinney, but could not catch the speedy daughter of Sultan, who came in a winner by a length from Leach, McKinney four lengths back. Time, 2:23¼. No pools.

Darkness was coming on very rapidly when the horses scored up for the fourth heat. The crowd had nearly all left the track, but few spectators remaining. The trio were soon sent away with Lucy R in the lead, Leach second and McKinney last. Lucy R kept the lead until an eighth of a mile from home, when she went up in the air and McKinney and Leach, who were in close attendance, both passed her. Jim Leach going under the wire on a run was set back, McKinney getting the heat, Lucy R second and Leach last. Owing to darkness the finish was postponed until today.

The following was the summary:

Walter Naben's b. m. Lucy R. (Naben)..3 1 1 3
C. A. Durfee's br. h. McKinny, (Durfee).2 3 3 1
Earp and Brown's br. g. Jim Leach,....1 2 2 2
J. H Delaney's b. s. Bashaw.....4 d. s.

Finish postponed. Time 2:29¼, 2:22¼, 2:23¾, 2:27.

TODAY'S EVENTS.

For this afternoon the opening race is a one-half mile heat race, with the following starters: Gambo (110), Amazon (115), Comet (121). In the auction pools last night Comet was the favorite at $20, Gambo $10, Amazon $5.

Second race, 3-minute class, trotting: Orphan Girl, Carrie S, Sultandin, Alco. The latter was the favorite last night at $10 against $5 for the field.

Third race, one and one-fourth mile dash: Rico (113,) Marigold (111), Four Aces (98,) Naicho B (102.) Rico sold at $20, Marigold $10 and the field brought $5.

NOTES.

There will be a balloon ascension and parachute jump and ladies' tournament today.

Considerable dissatisfaction was caused by the long delay between the heats on the trotting races. A twenty minutes' rest ought to be enough for any trotter.

H. P. Rodman presided over the pool box to the complete satisfaction of the betting element.

The wheel of fortune was there in all its glory and did a big business.

Candidates were plentiful at the track, but it was noticable that they didn't gamble any.

The poultry display is very fine and ought to attract a great deal of attention.

There were a great number of stylish turnouts on the ground, and several exciting brushes took place on the way home.

ORPHANS' FAIR.

A Big Crowd in Attendance—New Features.

The crowd in attendance at the Orphans' Fair at new Armory Hall last evening, was large, far above the expectations of the ladies and gentlemen who have labored so hard and so diligently to make the fair what it is, a success.

At 9 o'clock the large hall presented a brilliant scene. The handsomely decorated booths, the handsomely dressed ladies attending them and the moving crowd upon the floor formed a most attractive panoramic view as one gazed upon the whole.

several new booths and attractive features were inaugurated last evening. Among them was the "Scale Department" in charge of T. J. Cassiday and Miss M. Cowper. All of the heavy men in attendance, as well as the lightweights, featherweights and middleweights were given the exact figures at which they tipped the beam. Father Dockery's weight could not be ascertained as the scales refused to register over 300 pounds and the good father is just a trifle heavier than this. D. Finnucane went to 240 pounds, Mayor Hazard to 223 pounds, Ed Gibson to 234 pounds, Father Lynn to 203 pounds and W. H. Davenport to 300. In addition to her other work, Miss Cowper has an excellent system of fortune telling.

There is quite a contest to determine who the most popular lady assisting at the fair is. The voting commenced last evening and at the close stood: Miss M. Carson, 52; Miss J. Amestay, 10; Miss T. Gabnal, 9; Miss B. Roth, 11; Miss Ballade, 8; Miss M. Workman, 5; Miss S. Maxwell, 4; Miss J. Alleyne, 4.

One of the handsomest booths in the hall is the Cathedral booth. Various articles of fancy work are displayed for sale, and a beautifully furnished reception room forms an attractive feature. This department is in charge of Mrs. V. Povet, assisted by Mrs. T. H. Raynolds, Mrs. D. F. Donegan, Mrs. D. M. McGarry, the Misses McGrath, Miss Hattie Lindenfeldt, Miss Clara Newhall and Miss M. Swingley.

Among the new booths opened last evening was a handsome bower located near the entrance and in the center of the floor. It was the flower booth, and its decoration reflected credit upon the good taste of the young ladies who arranged it. The ladies in charge are Mrs. H. R. Duffin, Miss Kate McCarthy, Miss Jennie McCarthy, Mrs. Kane, Miss C. A. Bouck, Mrs. K N. Ham, Mrs. George Stone, Miss Carrie Longstreet.

FAIR NOTES.

At the Sodality booth articles on sale were all made at the home by the orphans themselves. This booth is in charge of Misses Etchemendy, Miss Amestay, Miss Cristain, Miss H. Penelon and Miss M. Delgalarroador. The articles are all handsome and attractively displayed.

Fancy booth No. 1 was very liberally patronized last evening. It is in charge of Miss Mamie Sullivan, Miss May Thornton, Miss Kate Sullivan and Mrs. N. C. McDonald.

A gold-headed cane is being voted to the most popular candidate for Governor and Lieutenant-Governor. At the close of last evening the vote stood: Pond 61, Del Valle 10, Markham 30, Reddick 6.

The hat department is one of the most convenient features of the fair. If Miss M. Capitan permits a gentleman to pass by without having his hat checked, it is because she is busy checking another. This department is in charge of Miss N. Spillane, Miss A. McKinnisee, Miss Alice McManus, Miss M. Capitan and Miss M. Sabichi.

Among the candidates on the floor last evening were R. Balderrain and Ed Gibson.

Andrew McNally has donated a handsome silver mounted revolver to be voted for to the most popular candidate for Sheriff. The revolver will be on exhibition today at Montgomery Bros. cigar store.

The Catholic Knights, all three branches, visited the hall last evening in a body.

A diamond badge, valued at $150, is to be voted to the most popular candidate running on the State or county ticket. The vote last evening stood: Pond 28, Markham 16, Moore 26, Finucane 6, Munday 6, Bowers 10, Kurtz 7, Clements 1, Aguirre 25.

ALICE VINCENT.

The Handsome Prima Donna Again With Mr. Carleton.

Alice Vincent, the handsome prima donna who became such a favorite with the Los Angeles public upon previous engagements of the W. T. Carleton Opera Company in this city, will return with them next week and appear in several of her well-known roles. Mr. Carleton telegraphed his agent, Whiting Allen, yesterday that he had re-engaged Miss Vincent, that she is now at San Francisco and will come here with the company. This addition to Mr. Carleton's already strong forces makes his an extraordinarily strong attraction. Besides Miss Vincent there are Clara Lane, Harriet Avery, Clara Wisdom, Marion Langdon, Jennie Millard and Jeannie Winston among the feminine principals. The sale of seats began yesterday and the activity of the demand indicates a general desire to welcome Mr. Carleton upon his return.

THE DENTISTS.

Annual Meeting of the Odontological Society.

THE ELECTION OF OFFICERS.

The State Board of Dental Examiners Severely Scored by Dr. McCoy of Santa Ana—Other Papers.

The fifth annual meeting of the Southern California Odontonlogical Society was held in this city yesterday, at No. 133 South Spring street. The attendance of the members of the society was quite large. The officers are as follows: R. H. Shoemaker, president; W. R. Bird, vice-president; E. L. Townsend, secretary; G. E. Purcell, recording secretary; F. M. Palmer, treasurer.

President Shoemaker delivered the annual address in which he took occasion to review the work of the society.

Dr. M. A. Menges read a very comprehensive paper on "What I Don't Understand."

"Dentists and Dentistry," was the subject of a paper read by Dr. F. M. Palmer of this city.

Dr. G. E. Parnell read a paper on "Exposed Dental Pulp and its Treatment." The doctor handled the subject in a most thorough manner.

But the feature of the annual session was the paper read by Dr. J. C. McCoy of Santa Ana, on "The California State Board of Dental Examiners, and Their Influence on Dental Education." The paper is as follows:

"The motto of American dentists has ever been 'Excelsior,' never satisfied with past wonderful improvements, ever pressing onward and upward to a proficiency not even dreamed of by the most advanced of the past generation.

"Dental colleges have aided largely in raising the standard of the profession. In order to compel all to attain sufficient knowledge before practicing, but most of all to protect an innocent and over-confiding public, our legislatures have enacted laws to regulate the practice of dentistry.

"The title of our California law, as approved March, 1885, is as follows: 'An act to insure the better education of the practitioners of dental surgery, and to regulate the practice of dentistry, in the State of California.'

"The Governor appointed seven practicing dentists of our State to carry out the provisions of our dental law.

"Now be it understood, that the object for which this State Board of Dental Examiners was created, was to insure the better education of the practitioners of dental surgery.'

"In other words, they were intrusted by our State with the important mission of protecting her citizens from the malpractice of unqualified practitioners of dentistry, that is, so far as the qualifications of those, who applied to them for certificates to practice dentistry in the State of California, were concered.

"This Board of Dental Examiners has been meeting for the examination of candidates for five years. Their work is open to inspection of the public, and now we want to inquire, what has been the influence of this Board on Dental Education?

"First—The examinations have been theoretical and not at all practical. The first course student of a dental college, with scarcely any practical knowledge, is placed side by side with the experienced practitioner and both subjected to a written examination without an opportunity to show by clinical demonstration their practical knowledge.

"No member of this State Board of Dental Examiners could state on oath, whether any applicant could properly perform even the simplest operation; one young man who successfully passed the examination, boasted that up to that time he had never made a set of artificial teeth.

"The position of our State Board of Dental examiners is perhaps unique. It probably being the only one in the United States opposed to the better education of the dental practitioners.

"Knowing that the above is true, we would like to ask, how much this act insures the better education of the practitioners of dental surgery?

"Second—We will examine the attitude of the State Board of Dental Examiners, toward the dental department of our State University. Our State Dental College is worthy the encouragement and patronage of every dentist of this State and is really doing all that is being done educationally on this coast. This college has adopted a high standard for its graduates. To graduate from our State Dental College means a thorough training in all branches of dentistry.

"Now this same State Board of Dental Examiners is antagonistic to the dental college, a State institution and working under the same authority. In short they grant certificates to practice, to students who have failed to pass required examinations in the college; thus they send forth unqualified practitioners, deceiving the people, being clothed with all the legal rights of a competent and educated dentist.

"Please remember the purpose for which this board was created. To insure the better education of the practitioners of dental surgery.

"They have not only failed to fulfill their mission, but have been and are obstructionist and have prevented the very thing they were appointed to promote.

"Third—Has this board co-operated with the profession of the State to secure the end for which they were appointed, viz: To insure the better education of the practitioner of dental surgery.

"This society, believing that the law regulating the practice of dentistry could be improved, and that the State Board of Dental Examiners was guilty as charged in former part of this paper, appointed a committee to confer with a like committee of the 'State Dental Society' with reference to amending the dental law so as to limit the power of the board to the examination of diplomas.

"The State Dental Society (the leading members of which are on the Board of Dental Examiners) referred our petition to the said board, a distinction without a difference, who, presumably fearing their power and authority would be limited by such changes in the law, paid no attention to our requests, and by so doing refused to co-operate with those interested in insuring the better education of the practitioners of dental surgery.

"Our evidence is all given, our argument is made. The case is before you, and the profession of our great State shall be the jury. We will leave them to decide the influence our State Board of Dental Examiners is having on dental education."

The paper of Dr. McCoy was unanimously indorsed by the society, and the California press and all dental journals are requested to print it.

Clinics were given by Drs. Shoemaker and Baldwin, and the society adjourned until this morning.

Going to His Old Ohio Home.

A number of friends of E. Thomas Hughes of the Perry Lumber Company's office force, assembled in the spacious parlors of Mrs. Harrison on Broadway last evening, to enjoy the evening and say farewell, for the time being, to that gentleman who leaves on Thursday for a visit of several weeks at his old home, Columbus, Ohio. Several hours were passed very pleasantly, and many were the congratulations extended to Mr. Hughes on the prospective felicity awaiting him at the eastern end of his journey. Among those present were the Misses Williams of Hill street, Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Darby, Mr. Long, Mr. Pearley and Mr. Galer and family. Mrs. Harris served refreshments at the close of the evening, and proved herself an affable hostess.

MEETING OF THE DEMOCRATIC COUNTY COMMITTEE.

Five Per Cent of the Salary of the Office Demanded—That Chinese Letter—San Diego Politics—Campaign News.

The Democratic County Central Committee held an important meeting yesterday to transact the all-important business of arranging for the assessment of candidates.

After more or less wrangling, it was finally agreed that every candidate on the ticket should be assessed 5 per cent. of the amount of the salary of his office. The Superior judges will be let off easy, as they will not be assessed at all.

Ed. Gibson, the nominee for Sheriff, has been assessed $2.50, and it is said he is kicking.

A sub-committee of the campaign managing committee of fifteen was also appointed to handle the finances. The alacrity with which the Democratic candidates for office fail to pay their regular campaign assessments this year goes to show how much faith the candidates themselves have in the idle boast made by some Democratic papers of a clean sweep.

THAT CHINESE LETTER.

A Certified Copy Sent North for Political Capital.

For several weeks past some of the Democratic bosses of this city and members of the Democratic County Central Committee has been working on a letter that was used as evidence some time ago in the case of Hallock et al. vs. H. H. Markham, and night before last the original letter was sent in the hands of a trusted agent to San Francisco to be delivered to the State Central Committee, with instructions to have it photographed and distributed in the form of a campaign document.

The letter was filed as evidence in the form of a type-written copy certified to by one O. H. Conger, and the objectionable portion of the letter, which is postmarked Milwaukee, reads: "My Dear Pard: * * * I am glad you got rid of those Irish, and hope the Chinese will do better. * * * Yours, HENRY." The letter was mailed to Oro Grande, San Bernardino county, to one of the gentlemen who took the mines after Col. Markham sold out.

It is not even positively known that Col. Markham wrote the letter, but it is positively known that not a single Chinaman was employed in the mines during Col. Markham's administration, and there are several well-known gentlemen who are members of the Democratic party living in Calico, who were with Colonel Markham, and they are willing and ready to certify that Colonel Markham never allowed Chinamen in the mines and had no use for them whatever. Not only that, but they will swear that he never cut miners' wages down and did not compel his employés to deal in the company's stores, as is the custom with men who wish to oppress the laboring classes.

During his administration in the Calico district, workingmen could not have had a better friend than Colonel Markham, and the Democrats will probably learn this to their sorrow when they spring this letter.

There is not even a pretense on the part of the Democrats that the Irish miners under Markham underwent any such hardships as did the Irish railroad laborers on the Oregon wagon-road under Pond. These poor fellows, with one exception, never got out of the country of Kuskoquim. Michael Flaherty, however, is a living witness against the Democratic nominee. ["Hear! hear"!]

SAN DIEGO POLITICS.

Markham Will Poll the Full Republican Vote.

Hon. E. S. Torrance of San Diego, one of the Republican nominees for Superior Judge of San Diego county on the Republican ticket, was in the city yesterday. In conversation with a TIMES reporter, Judge Torrance stated that he had no doubt about the result, politically, in San Diego county this year. He was sure that Col. Markham would receive the full Republican vote and as many Democratic votes as the friends of Senator Bowers could possibly throw to him. He said the full Republican county ticket would be elected in his judgment.

Judge Torrance formerly resided at Winfield, Kan. In the Jayhawker State he presided for a number of years on the district bench with credit and honor to both himself and the bar.

Political Notes.

Friday evening the Republicans of Boyle Heights will hold a ratification meeting.

Saturday evening there will be a combination meeting at Washington Gardens of the Republicans of the Fourth, Fifth and Sixth Wards.

Col. J. C. Campbell, Judge Blades and Senator McComas addressed a large meeting of Republicans at Pomona last night.

Judge R. B. Carpenter, J. A. Kelly, J. Banbury, F. Edward Gray, Con Howe and Capt. Marion spoke to the Republicans at Glendale last night.

The Republicans of the East Side expect a rousing meeting tonight. Speeches will be made by the Hon. R. B. Carpenter, Walter S. Moore, Judge Stanton, M. T. Owens, L. Rogers and others. Elser's brass band and the Excelsior Glee Club will furnish the music.

The Prohibitionists spent most of yesterday at Temperance Temple, corner Broadway and Temple streets, talking over their position in the coming campaign. They finally agreed to indorse or put in nomination Judges McKinley and Shaw, Republican nominees, and Joy and Knatt, the Democratic nominees, for Superior judges, if they will pledge themselves to become total abstainers.

The first man in Southern California to introduce the 10-year system of selling orange land in San Bernardino county, was W. P. McIntosh, president and general manager of the Barton Land and Water Co., and also general manager of the Mentone Orange and Olive Lands. His system has enabled many a man with small means to procure himself an orange grove adjoining the beautiful city of Redlands. And not yet content with the good work accomplished, he has inserted an ad. in another column offering a very great inducement for business men and fruit-growers to invest in a small farm on the same easy terms, only requiring 10 per cent cash down and 6½ per cent. interest a year for ten years.

SOME FACTS ABOUT -:- ASPHALT PAVING. -:-

It is now used in thirty-four cities, the total area laid being over four million square yards. Washington, with seventy-five miles laid of asphalt pavement, "aspiring to have the position of the first residence city in our country, counts greatly on its pavements for help in reaching it." Buffalo has over fifty miles of noiseless pavement. On asphalt

THE SAME FORCE WILL DRAW A LOAD THREE TIMES AS HEAVY AS ON ORDINARY STONE PAVEMENT.

Asphalt is clean and healthful. Stone has one-fifth of its surface of joints filled with animal filth. Horses, besides doing more work, last longer, and repairs of vehicles and harness are less on asphalt than on any other.

In observations to ascertain the volume of traffic on streets, by Capt. F. V. Green, U. S. Engineers, several remarkable instances were given of the manner in which smooth asphalt streets have drawn traffic away from stone pavements, the most notable instance being in St. Louis where, on Olive St., paved with granite, the daily traffic per foot of width is only 7 tons, while on Locust St. (asphalt) it is 103 tons, the two streets being parallel, adjacent and similar in every respect, and paved at the same time.

ALL PROGRESS IN STREET PAVING IS IN THE DIRECTION OF SURFACES OF SHEET ASPHALT.

THE President has returned home, well pleased with his trip.

SAN FRANCISCO greets the next Governor as heartily as do country districts.

POND has not yet denied the brutal murder of those nineteen unfortunate Irishmen in 1785.

COL. MARKHAM and Congressman Morrow received a warm reception in San Francisco yesterday.

THE late Orange county fair at Santa Ana was a success. THE TIMES was the only Los Angeles paper having a representative present, thus securing daily and correct reports.

THE Pomona Student is the title of a neat little magazine, published monthly during the school year, by the students of Pomona College. It would do credit to any of the larger Eastern colleges.

WE have received a copy of a special series of the Boots and Shoes Weekly, published in New York. This issue contains a mass of information regarding the industry on the Pacific Coast, and is a fine example of a trade paper.

EMPEROR WILLIAM'S treatment of the Socialists appears to have produced a good effect. At a Socialist Congress in Halle yesterday, a resolution was adopted declaring that Socialists should seek to obtain their objects only through legislation. The Czar should take a lesson from his brother emperor.

IT is expected that the earnings of the Southern Pacific Company will this year reach the immense sum of $48,000,000, which is over a million more than the earnings of 1888, the best year the company ever had. This looks well for the condition of business on the Pacific Coast. It takes a prosperous community to stand such an immense annual drain. But, large as are the earnings of this great corporation, with all the abuses that have heretofore attended its management, we confidently predict that the annual aggregate of those earnings, and particularly the net results achieved, will hereafter, under the presidency of C. P. Huntington, the business man, be vastly increased.

RELATIVE VALUES OF LAND.

A few days ago we wrote the following paragraph:

It is not alone fruits that pay big in this section. A farmer near Norwalk has realized $4200 this season from a crop of onions grown on sixteen acres of land, and a profitable crop of barley hay had already been harvested this year on the same ground. What is such land worth, as a cold-blooded business proposition, apart from all climatic considerations?

In reference thereto, we have received this communication from a San Diego county land owner:

In response to the above, I will say that I will sell one thousand acres of such land as this at from $25 to $50 an acre. I mean to say, the land and water is here. He who buys it must make the necessary improvements, and he will readily have just such land as you speak of.

Now, if land that will produce such crops as that referred to above can be purchased at the higher price mentioned, it is clear that it will give a gross return, in one year, of six times the purchase price. We should like to know in what line of industry—or speculation either—larger profits can be made. The idea is very prevalent that there is no cheap land in Southern California. We have frequently shown how erroneous this opinion is. Land may still be had in this section not only at relatively low prices in proportion to what it will yield, but at prices that are actually low, when compared with prices in sections, where a good living can be made from the soil.

Of course, there are not large areas of Government land in the valleys of Southern California which can be had at one and a half or two and a half dollars an acre. That such land cannot be had appears to be resented by a few of the more unreasonable among our new arrivals, who expect to pick up double-eagles in the streets, figuratively speaking. These good people should have remained in the section whence many of them came—New England. They can certainly buy farms there cheap enough—too cheap, it seems to us.

A prominent resident of the San Gabriel Valley, who is visiting New England, sends a pamphlet of over a hundred pages, issued by the New Hampshire Commissioner of Agriculture and Immigration. There are in New Hampshire over two thousand abandoned farms, and this pamphlet contains descriptions, with prices, of 1442 of them. Most of them have broad acreage, large and comfortable buildings, substantial fences and other permanent improvements, and they can be bought for prices at which the owner of five acres of good unimproved orange land in Southern California would turn up his nose. These farms have, we are told in this pamphlet, been abandoned for "various reasons." The climate of the State is praised as the most healthful east of the Rocky Mountains. The inducement is held out that many of these farms can be purchased for one-fifth of the cost of the permanent improvements upon them, and for less than many a man pays to keep his family in a country hotel for a single season. What dubious attractions to place before sensible, enterprising settlers! And yet the title of the pamphlet reads: "Secure a Home in New Hampshire, Where Comfort, Health and Prosperity Abound." Probably the abandonment of these farms is a proof of prosperity. The owners, we presume, made so much money that they left without taking the trouble to dispose of their homesteads.

Here are a few specimen bargains from this pamphlet:

200 acres; house 6 rooms; barn, cellar and woodshed; fenced with stone and wood; plenty of fruit; 4 miles from railroad; 1½ miles from postoffice; price $400; $100 cash, balance at 6 per cent.

350 acres; house 10 rooms; barn 40x60; another 20x40; fenced with stone and poles; fruit trees; five miles from railroad and postoffice; price $600; $200 cash, balance at 6 per cent.

300 acres; house 1½ stories, 10 rooms; barn 36x40; plenty of fruit; 1 mile from railroad station and postoffice; price $800; $300 cash, balance at 6 per cent.

Now, these farms are cheap, are they not? Here is a chance for "kickers" who find the prices of our land too high. But then, many of these people come right from that very section. Why did they not pick upsome of these bargains? Why are two thousand farms, in a state noted for its climate and scenery, going begging for one-fifth of what the improvements cost? Why, simply because they cannot be made to pay the owners a living.

When men in New England cannot make a living off half a section, while men in Southern California can put money in the bank by cultivating five acres, it is time to cease these foolish attempts to compare the prices of land here and there with the purpose of showing that Southern California land is too dear. We maintain that arable land in Southern California is today selling far below its real value, and that the time will never come when it can be bought cheaper than today. On the contrary, as the capabilities of our soil and climate become better understood, prices will advance, and the day is not far distant when the owner of ten acres of good land, with water, in this favored section, will consider himself an exceptionally fortunate man, independent of the world.

THE craze for juvenile "talent" on the dramatic stage has been extending toward the cradle until it appears to have reached the climax in the appearance on the boards—in a piece now being played in this city—of a six months' old infant that permits itself to be kissed, "bounced," romped with and handed around while it complacently sucks a stick of candy. It is difficult to see how such suckling realism can go any further than this, unless we get a scene showing the anxious father in his study, to whom enters the monthly nurse with the announcement: "It's a boy!" What a contrast are these real fire engines, real waterfalls, women in the sweet simplicity of tricots and nursing babies to the stage accessories when Will Shakespeare played at the Old Globe Theater, which consisted of a curtain and the name of the scene on a board, the female parts being taken by youths. The stage has certainly shared as much as anything in nineteenth century development, but whether the change has been all for the better is a question.

THE police estimate that there are in this city no less than two hundred creatures—we will not call them men—who live on the earnings of prostitutes. These men are nearly all well known to the police, who could, if necessary, place their hands on them within a few hours. They are constantly figuring in the courts as lawbreakers, but almost invariably escape with nominal punishment. They are evidently fully organized, and their activity at the polls in every election makes them an object of fear—especially toward election time—on the part of officials who seek reëlection. These men are vagabonds, having no settled occupation. They are a disgusting fungus growth, which every self-respecting municipality should cast off. Let the Police Commissioners instruct the chief to proceed against them—to make it so unpleasant for them that they will be forced to leave town. If they cannot be dealt with by the authorities, citizens have a right to know the reason why. That they have a political "pull" is a reason which should not count.

THE agricultural display at the Chamber of Commerce is an excellent one. Coming at this time of year, when citrus fruits are not in market, it forms a complement to our Citrus Fair. Those who have an idea that we can grow nothing in this section but oranges should not fail to inspect the exhibit. The apples, pears, grapes, potatoes, squashes and corn are a sight to behold. The rich peat lands of Westminster come to the front, as usual, with a magnificent display of mammoth apples, grown—as is everything else in that district—without irrigation. Apples will pay this year almost as well as oranges. The poorest are worth, in the orchard, 2 cents a pound. The dried fruit has an especially attractive appearance. If anything like such a show as this is made at Chicago, in our permanent exhibit, the result cannot fail to be a large incursion of land seekers next winter.

AMUSEMENTS.

LOS ANGELES THEATER.—The second performance of Hearts of Oak given last night by Mr. Herne and his company did not draw so large a house as on the first evening, a fact hardly to be wondered at, considering that many people were attracted to the opening as much to see the changes that had been wrought in the auditorium as to witness the painful experiences of the morbid hero of melodrama. This evening the closing performance of the company will be given.

Tomorrow night U. S. Mail is to be the attraction, supported by a company of pretty girls and able comedians, who will endeavor to make life pleasant for a few hours by means of song and dance, and the utterance of the kind of witticisms that always pass current in burlesque. The company has been doing a good business in San Francisco.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE.—The opening sale of seats for the Carleton Opera Company augurs well for the success of the week's engagement, beginning on Monday evening next. Mr. Carleton's big success, The Brigands will be given on the first night, and judging by the very favorable notices it has received elsewhere, it will prove one of the most enjoyable operas of the series. Miss Alice Vincent was added to the strength of the company in San Francisco, at first for that city only, but according to a dispatch received yesterday afternoon by the management, Mr. Carleton has concluded to bring Miss Vincent to Los Angeles, where she is sure of a hearty welcome as an established favorite in the part she assumes.

JOHN WILSON,

A Wealthy Blacksmith, Nearly Kills His Wife.

At 11:30 o'clock a young man called at the police station and informed the officers that John Wilson, a wealthy blacksmith who lives on the corner of 30th and San Pedro streets, was killing his wife. Officer Sanchez mounted his horse and made his way to the scene of the tragedy as soon as possible.

He returned to the police station at 2 o'clock this morning with Wilson in custody, and locked him up on a charge of assault to kill.

Wilson struck his wife over the head with some blunt instrument because she refused to give him money. He was slightly under the influence of liquor, and the officer believes that he would have killed his wife then and there had it not been for the interference of her sister. When Sanchez reached the house the poor woman was lying in a pool of blood on the floor, with an ugly gash on top of her head. Medical aid was called in as soon as possible, but at an early hour this morning it was not known whether they will be able to pull her through.

New Court, I. O. F.

"Court Alfaifa" of the Independent Order of Foresters, was instituted last night at Compton by H. Rowland Lee, D. S. C. R., with an enrollment of twenty-two charter members.

Neighbouring courts were strongly represented. The following officers were then duly elected and installed, and at once entered upon the discharge of their duties in a business-like manner:

C. D. H. C. R., John B. Lossing; C. R., Dwight M. Crum, M. D.; V. C. R., B. G. Cleveland; R. S., J. H. Maag; F. S., Rev. E. H. Bickford; Treas., W. A. Templeton; S. W., J. P. Held; J. W., W. M. Hall; S. B., J. W. Robinson; J. B., George C. Robinson; P. C. R., James N. Sherman; chaplain, G. B. Nichols; physician, Andrew McFarland, M. D.

The court decided to meet twice a month, the next meeting to take place on Monday, October 20th, in I. O. O. F. Hall.

Frances Kelly Dead.

Frances Kelly, the woman who was so badly burned at the county jail yesterday morning, an account of which was published in THE TIMES, died shortly after 6 o'clock yesterday morning. She was kept under the influence of chloroform from the time she was burned until death relieved her sufferings. The body was removed to Orr & Sutch's, on Spring street, where Coroner Welden held an inquest at 11 o'clock. No new facts were brought out, and the jury returned a verdict that Frances Kelly, a native of California, aged 23 years, came to her death from burns received from her clothing accidentally catching fire. She will be buried today, her associates having raised sufficient money to pay her funeral expenses.

From the appearance of the dead woman's cell, she must have been sitting on the edge of her bed, smoking cigarettes, and set fire to her clothing.

Ten Nights in a Bar-Room.

This little drama was given last night in Niles' hall, in Vernon, to a well-filled house and an appreciative audience. All the parts were well rendered. It was given under the management of Professor Ludlam. Professor Brenner, George Hanna and Mr. Clark furnished excellent music. Pearlie Gleason's acting in the death scene, as the murdered child, was the feature of the performance. The play will be repeated in Vernon tonight and Friday night, October 14th and 17th, when Pearlie Gleason will also sing "The Drunkard's Lone Child," in costume.

The Zambesi River Affair Confirmed —Funeral of Mrs. Gen. Booth at London — Trial of the Irish Nationalists.

By Telegraph to The Times.

HALLE, Oct. 14.—[By Cable and Associated Press.] At today's session of the Socialist Congress a resolution declaring that the Socialists should seek to obtain their objects only through the enactment of laws by Parliament, was passed. The congress agreed to the appointment of a committee to inquire into the disputes between the Socialist Parliamentary leaders and the Berlin opposition.

Resolutions were adopted declaring that the Socialist deputies in the Reichstag should continue to urge the demands of the Social Democracy against the ruling middle classes. Their legislative activity should be directed toward the improvement of the position of the working classes both politically and economically. The party should also maintain the existing right of coalition until the full liberty of the meeting and association had been reached.

Liebknecht attributed the Onslaught against the parliamentaryism in the press to misunderstanding. The nation found fault with Parliament, not because the people's rights were not studied in that body but because of the stupidity of its indifference to the subject.

Several foreign delegates made their first appearance today and were received with enthusiasm. The warmest welcome was extended to Frau Marx, daughter of Carl Marx, and Mmes. Guesde and Ferroul, who represent the French Socialists Congress.

CALAIS, Oct. 14.—A large Socialist Congress of Collectivists is in session here to consider the question of coöperative organization.

AMSTERDAM, Oct. 14.—A meeting of the Socialists was held here today to discuss the manifesto issued by an agitator named Tindall, formerly an officer in the Dutch army, regarding national defenses. The King recently refused an audience to Tindall, who thereupon charged the ministry with violation of the constitution, basing his accusation on the ground that the King, if sane, ought to be visible, otherwise a regency should be established. Tindall today made a speech demanding the establishment of a regency. A resolution to the effect that the interests of royalty had been seriously prejudiced and the crown had lost prestige was adopted.

FUNERAL OF MRS. BOOTH.

A Great Crowd of Salvationists Turn Out in Her Honor.

LONDON, Oct. 14. [By Cable and Associated Press.] — The funeral of Mrs. Catherine Booth, wife of Gen. Booth, who is known as the "mother of the Salvation Army," took place today, and was made the occasion of a great demonstration by that organization. The weather was exceedingly disagreeable, a murky fog enveloping the city, but despite this thousands of persons assembled in the streets to witness the funeral procession. The route from the Thames embankment, where the army mustered, to Abney Park Cemetery, where the remains were interred, lay through the densely populated district of Stoke Newington. The entire route was lined with dense crowds. Windows of houses were thronged. All the railways entering the city ran excursion trains. The throng in the city was augmented by immense numbers of Salvationists and friends from the provinces. There was also a large attendance from foreign countries. The army was attired in uniform, wearing a white badge of mourning, everything being conspicuous. The crowd surpassed in number of those which gathered to witness the show on the Lord Mayor's day. The demonstration is convincing proof that the Salvation Army wields a powerful influence throughout the country.

O'Mahoney's Illness Gets Him Out of Trouble.

TIPPERARY, Oct. 14.—[By Cable and Associated Press.] Roman, prosecutor for the crown, dismissed the case against O'Mahoney, whose illness prevents his attending court.

The court took note of Healy's objection and allowed the crown to proceed with the prosecution.

A BURNING SCHOONER.

The Maid of Orleans Towed Into Port on Fire.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 14.—[By the Associated Press.] Shortly after midnight a good deal of excitement was caused along the water front by the statement that a ship on fire was coming through the Golden Gate. Soon afterward the tall spars of a craft were to be seen wrapped in flames moving past Meiggs's wharf in tow of a tug, which was sounding her whistle as a warning to other vessels in the bay. It was soon ascertained that the burning vessel was the Maid of Orleans.

The schooner Maid of Orleans, Captain Atwood, belonging to Preston & McKinson, sailed on the 12th for Shoal Water Bay to load with lumber for this port. When seventy-five miles from the Farallones she was discovered to be on fire. Capt. Atwood immediately put about and ran for port. When off North Head the tug Wizard picked her up and towed her to Mission Flats, where the flames were extinguished. Having no load the damage was much smaller than it would have been otherwise.

The burglar left a note to Rev. Dr. Ellis, the minister, saying, "Don't let the police know and I will make terms. If you do I will destroy what I have taken." Next day Dr. Ellis received a letter from the burglar signed C. H. A. Boyden, saying that he would return the papers for $100. Ellis, on detectives' advice, wrote and asked for a guarantee of good faith. Quite a correspondence ensued. Last Saturday a young man dressed as a messenger boy visited Ellis with a note demanding $100. Ellis gave him $5 in a sealed envelope and followed him and saw him open the envelope and take the money. He was arrested and proved to be the burglar Boyden. In his room the stolen papers were found. He has been robbing churches in this way for some time.

The "Favored Nation's Clause" Will Not Prevent Reciprocity.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—[By the Associated Press.] Dispatches from London assert that Spain cannot negotiate a reciprocity treaty with the United States for Cuban trade without violating the "favored nation clause" in the existing treaties with other nations. It is said at the Department of State that this point was finally decided in 1884, when Minister Foster negotiated a reciprocity treaty, and is now revived, not by Spain, but by the commercial interests of Great Britain for obvious purposes. The United States also has a "favored nation clause" in most of her commercial treaties, but this will not embarrass the government in the negotiation of reciprocity treaties or arrangements with other nations because the Department of State has uniformly held that the "favored nation clause" applies only where a privilege is granted freely and without consideration, but wherever a special consideration is made the condition of a favor granted or received, the favored nation clause does not apply.

New West Educationalists.

CHICAGO, Oct. 14.—The New West Educational Commission held a special meeting today. The reports show that there are thirty-two schools, affording education to 3284 pupils, and a total valuation of property of over $100,000. Their academies are disseminating knowledge of a higher order over a territory where educational facilities are most needed. The total receipts of the last year from contributions aggregate $25,000. Rev. Frank Gunsaulus, in a speech, asserted that the Mormon question is not settled, and any pronouncements of President Woodruff should not lead the Christians to believe that polygamy is at an end. President William E. Hale was reëlected.

A Minister's Son in Trouble.

SEATTLE (Wash.,) Oct. 14.—T. F. Ryan, son of Hon. Thomas Ryan, United States Minister to Mexico, has left the city, and it is said he leaves debts amounting to several hundred dollars. He came here about three months ago to study law in the office of a prominent attorney. He spent his money freely and when his bank account was exhausted he drew on his father, having his friends here indorse the paper. The drafts have all come back unpaid, his father refusing to honor them. Meantime young Ryan left the city.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 14.—The State University Board of Regents met this afternoon. The Committee on Grounds and Buildings reported that the new chemical laboratory building was ready for occupancy. It cost $25,000. On the recommendation of the Finance Committee, the secretary of the board was instructed to ask the State Controller to cancel the funded debt bonds of 1873, amounting to $66,000. The tendered resignations of A. W. Jackson, professor of mineralogy, and William G. Raymon, civil engineer, were referred.

To Build Co-operative Yards.

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 14.—The intended extension of its business by the Farmers' Alliance of the Southwest was discovered today, when it was learned that they were about to establish an independent stockyards in Kansas City. Texas, Nebraska and Iowa are back of the scheme. Fifty acres of land adjoining the present stockyards is the site of the new yards. By maintaining their own yards, the farmers believe that they can save much money in marketing cattle by doing away with commission men and a great part of other expenses.

TOOK IT BY STORM.

Col. Markham Advances Upon the Metropolis.

Streets Full of People Anxious to See the Next Governor.

Thousands Turned Away From the Meeting for Lack of Room.

The Colonel Delivers a Strong and Telling Speech—A Great Reception by the Union League—Morrow's Address.

By Telegraph to The Times.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 14.—[Special to the TIMES.] Our magnetic colonel's line of march fell across the metropolis tonight and it rose to the occasion. No State campaign has ever before seen such an out-pouring of the populace as tonight packed the line of march of the great parade. Promptly at 8 o'clock the Union League Club, headed by the Second Regiment Band, marched into the court of the Palace Hotel with a crash of brass music, each man carrying the stars and stripes and making the corridors ring with cheers.

The next Governor took a seat in an open carriage, the club acting as an escort, and wheeled into Montgomery street through a terrible crush of people. The line of march was up Market street, between sidewalks packed with humanity, thousands following abreast of the parade.

When the first wigwam was reached it was found nearly impossible to get even the first club into line into the building, and at least 2000 marching Markham men had to parade to their quarters without entering. Inside a terrific crush ensued, every inch of space being packed and most of the people on the floor carrying flags. At least 5000 were turned away at the door.

Ex-Gov. Perkins was chairman of the meeting, which was called to order by Irwin C. Stump, chairman of the Republican State Central Committee. Ex-Gov. Perkins made a fine introductory speech, rousing the audience to a great enthusiasm. When he introduced Markham the scene was beyond adequate description. Men threw their hats in the air and yelled themselves hoarse. Hundreds of flags were waved, making the air billowy with color. Ladies by thousands rose in their seats, waving handkerchiefs, clapping hands and joining with great spirit in the reception to the tall Colonel. Cheers continued ten minutes, at times nearly dying away, then being taken up again with renewed vehemence and fairly shaking the building.

The Colonel finally made himself heard and delivered a masterly speech in a strong and resonant voice without notes or halting manner. It was surprising, as Friday, Saturday and Sunday were spent in long rough drives over the mountains of Placer, Amador and Calaveras counties.

Congressman Morrow followed, and was introduced amid tremendous enthusiasm. The club bearing his name held the right of the line, and was about the only one to get in the building. It rose at his introduction and took the great audience along in its vociferous cheering. He made a fine speech, showing in detail the action of the last Congress, scoring the Democrats for obstructing the proceedings of that body and predicting a great victory for the ticket next month.

Ex-Congressman Charles N. Felton followed in a telling speech.

A reception to Col. Markham and Congressman Morrow is now going on at the Union League Club rooms. Great enthusiasm is manifested, and all the prominent Republicans of the city are present.

Chairman of the State Central Committee Stump made a speech outlining the situation of the fight at this time, and predicted a great victory, based upon information now at hand from all parts of the State.

Col. Markham and party sail on the steamer Corona tomorrow for Humbolt in fine health and spirits.

CINCINNATI'S CROOKED WAYS.

A Special Legislative Session to Straighten Matters Out.

COLUMBUS (O.), Oct. 14.—[By the Associated Press.] The Legislature convened in extra session this morning. After the reading of the call a joint committee waited upon the Governor, who submitted a message, which was read and referred to the Judiciary Committee. A recess was taken until afternoon. The message sets forth that the session is called because of the deplorable condition of the public service at Cincinnati and for the purpose of securing necessary legislation to give the people an opportunity to select members of certain boards at the Novembor election. It says it is unnecessary to enumerate the charges of crookedness which have been made and concerning which they are informed; that the time has come to adopt a new charter for Cincinnati, as already proposed.

REVISING THE CREED.

The Presbyterian Confession Undergoing Alteration.

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 14.—[By the Associated Press.] The Revision Committee of the Presbyterian General Assembly closed its session today. The chief discussions of the committee were upon chapters 3, 6, 9 and 10. A number of questions were referred to committees to report at the adjourned meeting in Washington. The discussions of the committee were thoroughly harmonious, and the agreements reached thus far are practically unanimous. The committee is confirmed in the belief that a report will be finally adopted which will receive the approval of the General Assembly and be adopted by the presbyteries.

The revision of the chapter on fore-ordination was finally finished yesterday, and though it is not ready for public inspection, Chairman Roberts vouchsafed the information that there were some radical changes made. The tenth chapter, referring to final disposition of infants and idiots, was under consideration today.

The Andover Case.

BOSTON, Oct. 14.—The celebrated Andover case, which, in various forms, has been pending before the Supreme Judicial Court of Massachusetts more than three years, came up this morning for final hearing. Five of the six justices were on the bench, eleven lawyers appeared for the respective parties in interest and there was a large crowd of spectators. Mr. Russell opened the case for the appellant and Prof. Dwight followed. The case for the trustees was opened by Prof. Gray, and Hon. George Shattuck continued the argument in the trustees' behalf.

A MISSING DOCTOR.

CHICAGO PAPERS STIRRING UP A FRESH SENSATION.

Many Theories as to the Disappearance of Young Dr. Clinton Cooke—Love, Finances and Insanity Given as Causes.

By Telegraph to The Times.

CHICAGO, Oct. 14.—[By the Associated Press.] Local papers are making somewhat of a sensation over the disappearance of Dr. Clinton Cooke, a young physician with an officeon West Madison street. It is stated that he left his office last Thursday night, ostensibly to attend a patient, and has not been seen since. Dr. Cooke is a native of Salem, Or., who came here several years ago and attended the Rush Medical College.

A drug clerk who last saw him says that he seemed extremely nervous, and took bromide to quiet his nerves before he went out. No trace has yet been found of him.

One of the local papers says that he has been despondent since Lillie Rogers, a young lady of Portland, Or., broke their engagement. Another paper says that the lady's name was Elizabeth Alma, and that she lives in Iowa, New Mexico. Still another says that he was worried by financial matters. Some of his friends fear suicide, others say he wandered away while suffering from temporary mental aberration. There does not seem to be much ground for belief in foul play. The police have the matter in hand.

MARKHAM'S BIG DAY

Among the Mine-studded Canons of Amador.

AN OVATION AT EVERY MILE.

The Giant Powder Cartridge Mingling its Roar With the Scream of the Quartz Mill Whistle.

JACKSON (Amador county), Oct. 11. —[Staff Correspondence of THE TIMES.] This has been the most surprising day of this most surprising march, and if the intensity of enthusiasm continues until the end of the campaign it will wind up in such a blaze of glory as California has never known. As Col. Markham said in a brief talk from a hotel balcony at Amador today: "If the same state of affairs exists all over California as does in Amador county we will carry this election by 50,000 majority."

We left Placerville at 8 o'clock for a ride of thirty-four miles, not expecting anything out of the usual order of things, but the day has been a succession of pleasant surprises—in fact, of such a character as would usually be put forth to greet a president on a march across a country, rather than for a partisan candidate for Governor.

The way lies over long stretches of mountain side and through magnificent scenery that this poor pencil cannot attempt to paint for you. Wooded slopes, like those of the Alleghanies, stretch for miles and miles, to lose themselves in the hazy distance. Magnificent vistas of cañon and gulch burst upon the sight as mountain points are rounded, and all along the way the infatuating mine shows the gaping entrance in the hillside, and its great dump reaches down to the stream, which brawls its slickens-disfigured way beside us.

At Plymouth, twenty-two miles from Placerville, the first event of the day occurred. We noticed that a man we had seen at the bridge across the Consumnes River passed us at a gallop a few moments after we had crossed that stream, and found out shortly why he was riding in such hot haste. While the party was yet a mile or more from Plymouth, the roar of a giant cartridge, "the miners' welcome," told us that the messenger had done his duty, and that the populace was expecting the next Governor. As we mounted the hill into the little town, a great flag strung across the street greeted our sight, and beneath it was assembled the entire population of the place, apparently. A flag and color-bedecked carriage was in waiting for the Man of Magnetism, and he was soon transferred to it and a line of march taken up. The column was headed by a band which had been brought over from this place. Following it were about one hundred school children, "dressed in their best suits of clothes," and the entire force from several mines located in the town, or immediately adjacent. The main street was traversed and the column countermarched to the town hall, where one of the most interesting meetings of the campaign was held.

Col. Markham seemed inspired by the scene and the warmth and surprise of the demonstration sent a suspicious dampness into his eyes when he got up to make his little speech. He thanked the people in eloquent terms for their kindness, and made a talk that wedded his hearers to him. When he had concluded a glee club, composed of ladies, sang "The Red, White and Blue" in a most fetching manner.

The eloquent Knight followed in a twenty-minute speech which met with cheers, and the other evidences of satisfaction which Knight never fails to call out.

An hour had been used up here, and about two miles further on at Drytown, another demonstration was in store for the colonel, but only a brief stop was made, to enable him to shake hands with the people, when the line of march was resumed. At Amador a second band was met, and the two were combined, crashing out music till the mountains rang with the melodies of brass. All along the way the hills were roaring with giant cartridge salutes, and from every mill and hoisting works a flag fluttered its welcome to the chief.

At Gopher, a small mining camp, giant powder had been buried in the earth, which, in exploding, threw a great cloud of dust and smoke into the air, making a most striking picture as it floated off across the cañon like a great balloon. A few miles further on at Sutter Creek, there was the usual outlook waiting to catch a glimpse of the colonel's color-decked carriage on a distant hill. As soon as it came into sight he signalled the town, when at once the roar of exploding powder woke the echoes from every hillside. The first report was repeated from mine to mine until the hills fairly rocked and the racket was equal to a Democratic yell.

Along in this neighborhood are located some of the oldest quartz-mines in the State. At Amador the "Keystone" is famous as the first one in California to be worked. It has been operated for thirty years, and $11,000,000 has been taken from it. It has an immense plant-stamp mills, hoisting works, reduction works, etc., and the music of its pounding on the golden ore never ceases, day or night. From one year to another it goes on, pouring its yellow stream into the laps of its owners, a veritable Golconda.

When the colonel reached Sutter creek, some five hundred people were in waiting to receive him and gave him a royal welcome. The band played, the giant cartridge roared and everybody cheered themselves hoarse. A splendid supper had been prepared for him, and it was partaken of with a relish that only mountain air brings.

By the time Jackson was reached, at 7 o'clock, the colonel's train had increased from the two carriages which started with the party from Placerville, to some fifteen, each decorated with flags and ribbons, and the occupants letting forth "Hurrah for Markham!" wherever a group of people was encountered along the way.

This town has on its gala garments, and from every staff and house front along the main street, the National colors are displayed. The reception room of the hotel has been banked with "Markham roses" and the walls festooned with trailing vines, until it is a bower of beauty. The streets are lined with candles as at Red Bluff, lighting up the scene in a brilliant way, and for the time being it looks very much as though the man of Destiny who lives at Pasadena, owned the town. Tonight the theater was packed to very suffocation. Ingress after 8 o'clock was almost impossible, and it took the reporters of the San Francisco papers fifteen minutes to make their way to the platform.

The colonel acquitted himself in royal fashion and made friends and votes indiscriminately. Knight followed, but owing to a very severe attack of hoarseness, caused by speaking in the open air at Auburn, was unable to talk but a very few minutes.

The colonel, however, came into the breach as soon as Knight ceased, and taking up his speech where he had left off, made a further talk of fifteen or twenty minutes, telling among other things the "Mrs. Matt Fuller" story, and sending the audience home in splendid humor.

This ended what I have already said is the most surprising day of this most surprising campaign. Where coldness and indifference were expected, we have met with a welcome that a prince might be proud of, and Colonel Markham goes to his room for the night feeling that whether elected or not he has made and met thousands of friends in these mountain regions whom he will always think of with kindness, and he says that this day will never be blotted from his memory.

A great reception is in store for us at Stockton Monday night, of which I will likely telegraph you. [He did. —Ed. TIMES.] I used to live in that pretty city, and I know the old boys there are a gamey lot and never do things by halves. Pond spoke there today (Saturday) and it will be a good place to show the people the difference between the man of magnetism and the man of Buckleyism.

STUART'S SECOND RAID.

HIS PENNSYLVANIA EXPEDITION IN 1862.

How He Seized Chambersburg, Captured Horses and Startled the Whole Country, Both North and South—Sharp Tactics on the Retreat—A Thrilling Tale.

[Copyright by American Press Association.]

J E B STUART'S ride around McClellan's army on the Peninsula in June, 1862, accomplished very little of importance in a military sense, but it undoubtedly suggested to the dashing cavalryman and to his chiefs that long rides could be made within the enemy's lines, resulting in the destruction of valuable stores, the severing of communications, and the gain of valuable information about the opposing force. The Peninsula raid was made by two regiments of about 1,200 men, and ended in a scare for the Union camps; the temporary obstruction of the railroad supplying the Union army, and the wanton wounding of some soldiers and passengers by a volley fired into a moving train. However, it made Stuart famous, and no doubt suggested to Gen. Lee the use that might be made of such expeditions in campaigns favorable for incursions across the lines.

A tempting situation was noted some months later, after the battle of Antietam. The armies of McClellan and Lee lay on opposite sides of the Potomac river, above Harper's Ferry. McClellan was refitting and recruiting the Army of the Potomac, and, with a depot of supplies at Hagerstown, was dependent for rapid communication with the north on the railroad running thence from Harrisburg, Pa., by way of Chambersburg. The latter was from thirty to forty miles inside of McClellan's lines. On the 8th of October Gen. Lee instructed Stuart to take 1,200 or 1,500 mounted men and proceed to that point, destroy the railway bridge over the Conococheague and otherwise damage the Union transportation, making any legal captures within his power. Stuart selected 1,800 men and a battery of flying artillery. His subordinates were Wade Hampton, W. H. F. Lee and W. E. Jones. When the troops were in line, ready to move off in a dense darkness, the following order was read to them:

SOLDIERS—You are about to engage in an enterprise which, to insure success, imperatively demands at your hands coolness, decision and bravery, implicit obedience to orders without question or cavil, and the strictest order and sobriety on the march and in bivouac. The destination and extent of this expedition had better be kept to myself than known to you. Suffice it to say that with the hearty co-operation of officers and men I have not a doubt of its success—a success which will reflect credit in the highest degree upon your arms. The orders which are herewith published for your government are absolutely necessary and must be rigidly enforced.

J. E. B. STUART.

The cavalcade moved silently to McCoy's Ford, on the Potomac, between Williamsport and Hancock, seized the picket post without alarm, and after pressing on some distance a Union signal station with all its detail was surprised and captured. At this point Stuart learned of the presence of Gen. J. D. Cox's Kanawha division, which was marching toward West Virginia, and had gone but an hour's march from the road he was pursuing. The raiders then made a detour and pushed on to Mercersburg, Pa., ten miles from the point of crossing and half way to Chambersburg. The latter was reached after dark, and Stuart immediately took possession of the place, appointing Wade Hampton military governor. No officials could be found who would treat with the invaders, and Stuart sent his men to perform the work assigned.

It was raining steadily, a cold, dreary, autumn storm, and as far as possible consistent with orders the troops sought to get some comfort out of the situation. Strict orders had been given against private plundering, but the men threw themselves upon the mercy of the people for creature comforts. Before entering the town an inspection of canteens had been made, and all liquors found therein had been emptied. Citizens were warned against treating the men with liquor, as a spark of anger among intoxicated men might lead to terrible results. The people were a long time finding out who the strangers were. Their hands were open, they said, to supply the wants of soldiers, but while they were passing out their good things they often inquired who was in command. The men in bravado would answer, "Stonewall" Jackson, "Bobby" Lee or "Jeb" Stuart, when hands would go up in horror, and often loaded dishes of food would be dashed to the floor. Good feeling prevailed generally, however. Stuart's officers entered the homes of the wealthy and cultured and bore themselves like gentlemen, putting everybody at ease.

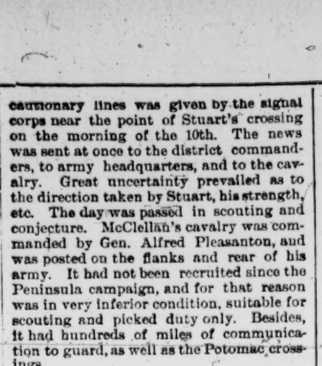
Among the homes where the raiders were entertained was that of Col. A. K. McClure, the Philadelphia editor, then a lawyer of that town. McClure had been on McClellan's staff at Antietam, and was an officer of the Home Guard. Stuart had put him on a list of officials to be captured and retained as hostages, but by accident a party of Confederates stumbled upon his residence early in the evening and were hospitably entertained. Of course no straggling patrol or search would trouble a house where Confederate officers were enjoying themselves, and the recipients of hospitality would not betray their entertainers, and the night passed in feasting and in discussion of the situation. The raiders had cut the telegraph, and there was no opportunity to send word abroad for military relief. Col. McClure accepted the inevitable calmly, talked frankly about public sentiment and finally asked a favor of the raiders in the return to his stable of a favorite pony belonging to a young lady of his household which had been seized as legal capture. It was of course returned.

The next morning, Oct. 11, large quantities of military stores, machine shops, railroad buildings and loaded trains were destroyed. The railway bridge and trestle was of iron and could not be burned. After accomplishing this Stuart set out on the return—the most difficult part of the raid: for while he had dashed boldly a day's ride into Union territory with but little opposition, it was not to be supposed that with military lines all around his course his passage would escape notice or fail to arouse an army to cut off his retreat.

The first alarm sent out from the Union cautionary lines was given by the signal corps near the point of Stuart's crossing on the morning of the 10th. The news was sent at once to the district commanders, to army headquarters, and to the cavalry. Great uncertainty prevailed as to the direction taken by Stuart, his strength, etc. The day was passed in scouting and conjecture. McClellan's cavalry was commanded by Gen. Alfred Pleasanton, and was posted on the flanks and rear of his army. It had not been recruited since the Peninsula campaign, and for that reason was in very inferior condition, suitable for scouting and picked duty only. Besides, it had hundreds of miles of communication to guard, as well as the Potomac crossings.

The return of the Confederate cavalry was the most difficult part of the daring expedition. That short cut of twenty odd miles from Williamsport to Chambersburg could not be made again. Cox's Kanawha division was known to be in that vicinity, and there were thousands of Union troops within easy call. Lee's instructions had been that the crossing back be made near Leesburg, some distance below the territory occupied by McClellan's army, and between fifty and sixty miles in a direct line from Chambersburg. The start was made early on the morning of the 11th. Nearly every cavalryman had an extra horse led from his saddle, and being for the most part newly shod and fed, the whole cavalcade was in fine spirits. Along the streets and on the farm roads wagon loads of goods and produce were left standing without teams, the horses having been "impressed" for the Confederacy. One Virginian, who was expostulated with by some weeping women because he took their horses, answered: "Crying won't do any good. Your folks took nine blooded horses from my father's stable."



IMPRESSING HORSES.

For a feint Stuart moved rapidly toward Gettysburg, then turned south. At Emmettsburg the southern flag was greeted with cheers, and the men had an ovation. A Union courier was captured here with dispatches showing that the Union forces were in strength at Frederick, and thus warned, Stuart made another detour, avoiding that town. As he drew near the river and the line of McClellan's communications with Washington, the situation became critical. Before daylight this same day, Oct. 11, Gen. Pleasanton gathered his scattered command, and set it in motion on Stuart's route north, keeping scouts, however, well to the northeast. He soon learned of the retrograde movement, and faced his men about, aiming to reach the Monocacy ahead of Stuart, whom he suspected would go toward Poolesville.

In avoiding Frederick by the east Stuart crossed the Monocacy above that town, while Pleasanton, concentrating at Frederick, crossed that stream just below, and pushed on toward the Poolesville road by way of Barnesville. Stuart was at this moment dodging still, and having heard that a Union force under Gen. Stoneman was guarding Poolesville he decided to cross over to the Monocacy again. His advance was preceded by 150 men in Union uniform. Pleasanton's advance squadron met them on the Barnesville road, exchanged friendly signals and allowed them to draw near. Then the Confederate leader, Irving, of Lee's brigade, ordered his squadron to charge. It was done boldly, and a cloud of sharpshooters sprang from their horses and advanced on the supports which stood behind the Union cavalry. In a twinkling Stuart's horse battery came to the spot and opened, driving Pleasanton's men back to the Monocacy.

Rapidly now Stuart again changed his course to White's Ford, between Poolesville and the Monocacy. Here he ran upon 200 infantry posted on a ridge, facing the other way and covering the ford. A gun was placed in position, seventy riflemen were dismounted, and a swift dash across a ravine and up the slope surprised and scattered the picket, and the cavalcade rode on. Cannon were planted at the Ford to cover the crossing in case of attack, and in single file the party moved across, preceded by another cannon, which was posted on the height beyond the river. Meanwhile the troops at Poolesville under Stoneman had been aroused, and were on the march up the river. They united with Pleasanton's cavalry only to see the Confederates across the river, and to be greeted with a saucy good-by salute from the gallant Pelham, who commanded Stuart's flying battery.

The raid was over. Stuart had not lost a man, but brought back some wounded. He brought in 1,200 led horses, the pick of the rich farming country through which he had ridden. The consternation in the north was very great, and the authorities blamed one another for the humiliating result. President Lincoln is reported to have got off another grim joke to the effect that the affair reminded him of a game the boys played which turned on the saying, "Three times around, then out." Said he, "Stuart has been around McClellan twice, and if he does it again McClellan will be out."

The truth was McClellan had no cavalry. The government had not woke up to the need for that arm. Stoneman, with a few regiments, had thirty miles of river to guard from the Virginia side, and Stuart had more cavalry on this raid than his opponents could concentrate at any one point in forty-eight hours. There was not much to oppose Stuart, but yet it was a daring ride.

Mrs. Ingersoll's Gifts.

Mrs. Robert G. Ingersoll is the recipient of countless tracts, church prints, leaflets and religious publications embracing every modern creed. They come from all quarters of the Union and some English organizations. Many have startling titles, and not a few call the lady's attention to a special article or page by a dog eared page or margined note. The letters written by fanatics of both sexes are almost as numerous and considerably more voluminous. Very often they are short of postage, which Mrs. Ingersoll cheerfully pays to save the postman the burden of carrying them back to the station.—Exchange.

THE CAMPAIGN.

A Glance at Buckley's Odious Record.

WHY HE SHOULD BE BEATEN.

McCoppin's Retirement -- Tomorrow's Reception to Morrow and Markham in San Francisco—Republican Claims, Etc.

[San Francisco Bulletin.]

Laying aside the moral aspect of the question, there cannot be two opinions in decent quarters about the necessity of clearing out the Buckley gang which has been so long in control of this city. The gang has been working every expedient known to corrupt politics to enrich itself at the expense of the public. The lion's share has been retained by Boss Buckley, who is now reckoned among the rich men of the city. The local government and the State Legislature have been operated for his benefit. The paying offices he distributes among his followers. For himself he always reserves control of the Supervisors. The casting vote, so to speak, in the State Legislature is especially coveted by him.

Buckley has been, and is, on the payroll of the great monopolies. The insurance trust, the railroad formerly, the water company, at different times have retained his services. He sells nominations for the great and little offices of State and city. The receipts from other sources have evidently been quite large also. One or two glimpses of judicial work, given some time ago, were quite sufficient to suggest a form of corruption appalling in its nature. The boss and his gang have so long held power that they are beginning to throw aside the disguises which in the past so well served them. Buckley heretofore has considered it to be necessary to make some concessions to the decency of the town by fair nominations for conspicuous offices. It is noticeable, also, that when he did so he always adopted measures to neutralize the unexpected goodness introduced in his ticket.

Buckley not long ago was an obscure barkeeper in Vallejo, who uniformly acted with the Republicans. It is said that his political predilections are still in the same direction. But he is running for his own profit the Democratic party of the city and State. It has been asserted by prominent Democrats that he sold out Cleveland when he first ran for the office of President. It is believed he is doing a great deal of selling now of one kind or another. But he is not going to let the control of this city and a strong position of the State escape him if he can help it. These are concerns which are not for sale. Buckley needs them in his business. The foundation of his power is in the departments of the local government which he has debauched, especially the fire department. His lieutenants fill all its offices and sinecures. The criminal element under his manipulation does its share in the government of the city. It is high noon with him now. But the dark night of overthrow and disaster is not far off. San Francisco must be redeemed.

The San Francisco Municipal Ticket

[San Francisco Bulletin.]

The Republican municipal ticket was completed last night. A name here and there is found which might have been improved upon. But on the whole it must be regarded as strong and well put together. It is certainly the best array of names that has been presented to our citizens for a long time. The chart for their guidance, in the event of their election, is sound and conservative. It has already been made the subject of much favorable comment. While carefully guarding against excesses, the financial plank is sufficiently broad and comprehensive to secure legitimate progress. Strong and highly-respectable names are found among the nominees for the supervisors and the school board. If this ticket should be successful our citizens will not have much reason to borrow trouble for two years to come in connection with the local government.

Markham and the Miners.

[San Francisco Post, Oct. 11.]

Notwithstanding the fact that Col. Markham was still suffering from a cold, contracted on the trip through the Sierra Nevadas, he made a much longer speech than usual, explaining that he felt it his duty to tell the people of the mining districts all about his action in Congress relative to the hydraulic mining interests. The explanation was received here exactly as it had been at all other mining localities visited, the audience giving expression to their entire satisfaction by frequent enthusiastic applause.

Colonel Markham explained that he was himself as much in the dark as to the best methods to be adopted to settle the great questions between the hydraulic miners and the agriculturists of this State as any one. He earnestly hoped that something might be done which would benefit the one without doing any injury to the other. He believed this would be done, but he was not in a position to make any promises as to his future position in the matter.

The Republican Party's Claim on California.

[San Francisco Chronicle.]

Every citizen of California who desires to see the State prosper will vote for the Republican candidates for Congress. The Republican party has shown that it understands the needs of the State by passing the Sweet Wine Bill, increasing the tariff on our fruits and by offering a bounty for the production of beet sugar. All of these measures were opposed by the Democrats, and if they had the power to do so they would have beaten them. The Democratic representatives from this State, although they had in season and out of season urged such legislation, were forced by their party affiliations to oppose it when the crucial time came. The question for the California voter to decide, therefore, is a simple one. It is this: Will he vote for a man who would like to help him, but is not permitted to do so by his party, or for one who is willing to help and whose party favors his demands? The Republicans are the willing ones, and their party is the party which has favored California industries.

McCoppin's Retirement.

[San Francisco Call.]

Rumors had been in circulation for some two or three days that ex-Mayor McCoppin would decline the Buckley nomination for Mayor, and the rumor has been confirmed by McCoppin's letter of declination. The reason Mr. McCoppin gives for declining a nomination he has apparently sought, is that his private business will not permit him to hold the office if elected. In view of the remote chance of the election of any of Buckley's nominees this year the reason is not sufficient. If Mr. McCoppin could spare time to make the canvass he need not trouble himself about the duties of the office. Mr. Sanderson has so arranged his private business that he can find time for the performance of those duties. On the principle of having candidates who really represent the aim and purposes of a party, Mr. McCoppin's declination is to be regretted. Unless Buckley nominates himself he will experience some difficulty in finding a candidate so thoroughly representative of the party as Mr. McCoppin.

Reception to Morrow and Markham.

[San Francisco Call, Oct. 12.]

An informal but big torchlight political parade, the first of the season, is being arranged for next Tuesday night. The State Central Committee has arranged for a demonstration and an informal procession in honor of Congressman W. W. Morrow on his return from Washington, and H. H. Markham on his return from his canvass in the interior of the State. The line of march will be from the Palace Hotel to the new wigwam at the corner of Eddy and Jones.

The California Gold Discovery.

[George Hamlin Fitch in the Century.]

One of the anomalies of the gold discovery was its slowness in reaching Americans in California. It was midsummer before the news was generally credited in California and Oregon. Then, when people became convinced that the reports were true and that fortunes could be made in a few months in the Sacramento valley, there was a rush such as was never before known in history. Of course the California settlers had the great advantage of proximimity to the new El Dorado. Next, perhaps, came those in Honolulu. The Oregonians obtained their news by way of the Sandwich Islands and Fort Vancouver. These hardy pioneers had just emerged from a long struggle with hunger, the wilderness and the Indians. They were poor, and they saw in the future only a vista of weary work with small profits, as they had no market for their produce. Suddenly the scattered settlements were electrified by the gold discovery. Those who took part in the rush declare that not less than two-thirds of all those capable of bearing arms swarmed over the Siskiyou mountains and came down to the gold fields of the Sacramento. In the meantime the news had spread to the East, to Australia and to South America. From all quarters came young men as eager for adventure as for gold. Not one in a thousand had any practical knowledge of mining, or any plan of remaining in the country after a fortune had been made. Eighty thousand is a conservative estimate of the number of gold-hunters who flocked to California in the first twelve months that followed Marshall' discovery.

A French View of Reciprocity.

[Le Temps of Paris.]

Mr. Blaine has never given proof of a greater political intelligence than when he has sketched a system of reciprocity tending to substitute for tariff rigidity a certain elasticity, and which would permit the access to new markets by opening the United States territory to sugar, raw hides, etc., of South America. Senator Sherman of Ohio, a brother of the illustrious general, and by unanimous consent the most eminent financier of America, has taken one step further in that policy by reporting a proposition tending to the establishment of reciprocity with Canada. A political interest of the first order is connected with that project. It relates to the eventual union of the Dominion and the great Republic. It is probable that upon the basis of reciprocity the customs policy of the Federal government will develop itself. It is of the utmost importance to record the beginning and to follow the march of a movement in which the negotiators of commercial treaties, when the year of the expiration of all conventions actually existing shall have come, will be able to find the elements of trading acceptable to all doctrines and all interests.

He Got the Shake.

"You're very like my mother, Maude," said he,
In hopes she'd smile and as her lover book him.
"And as your mother did, I'll do," said she,
And speaking thus the lovely maiden shook him.

John Brown's "Last Moments."

[New York Star.]

I was not surprised to learn in a shop in Astor place that Thomas Hovenden's etchings of his own painting, "The Last Moments of John Brown," have met with ready sale. The original is not a very large picture, but Hovenden applied two years of research and work to its completion, and, it was said, sold it for $15,000. To my thinking the view presented is too circumscribed, reproducing an incident rather than an event. While it lacks largeness of scope and historical minuteness it is yet faithful and vigorous. John Brown is descending the prison steps, his arms pinioned behind him, as he bends over and kisses the negro child. Perhaps that part of it is fable, but the types of men and Brown's "old, harsh face" are correct. A dealer in autographs tells me that it is impossible to get original letters of the arch-abolitionist; that eight or nine are known, but are not for sale, and that $50 is the smallest price attached to them. In this very month thirty-one years ago John Brown was prowling around Harper's Ferry.

October Jackets.

[Chicago Post.]

Jackets for the present season, to be worn on cool days until late in November, are made of neutral-toned "faced" cloth, queen's tweed, Irish blarney, camel's hair, fancy meltons and English suitings, in stripes and checks. The jacket of the year has not evolved itself into any fixed shape—for there are jackets and jackets, long, medium and short—for all occasions, from a walk in a drenching rain-storm to a walk up a church aisle at a grand wedding, of all materials from serge to white velvet, in all styles—Spanish, Russian, French, Persian, Moorish and English—in severest tailor trim and displaying many coquetries. They show collars both light and low and are both single and double-breasted. Polish coats of Roman-red ladies' cloth and those of red and black jersey cloth, made in tailor style, will be worn over skirts of black lace, net, striped satin and veiling during the entire autumn season.

CAMPAIGN WORK.

Meeting of the Republican and Democratic Clubs.

THE MARKHAM CLUB GROWING.

The Meetings in Detail—Notes and Comment on Timely Topics—A Large Batch of Brevities.

A meeting of the Markham Republican Club was held yesterday evening in Williams' Hall. The attendance was large.

President Simpson presided. Treasurer May reported $15.40 in the treasury. B. M. Wotkyns of the Registration Committee reported that the work was progressing satisfactorily. The names of twelve new members were handed in by C. C. Brown, with the assurance that more are on the way.

A bill from the Blinn Lumber Company was presented for erecting the grand stand on Haymarket Square. A motion to increase the number of members on the Executive Committee from 5 to 10 was lost.

Capt. Simpson, in a brief address, urged more zeal on the part of the club members, and emphasized the fact that Pasadena should be at the head of the procession in earnest campaign work.

THE UNTERRIFIED

Convene and Complete Club Organization.

The Democratic Club of Pasadena held its third meeting last night, W. U. Masters presiding.

Minutes of the last meeting were read and approved.

A. J. Wright, A. O. Bristol and James Clarke were appointed members of the Finance Committee.

The Finance Committee was instructed to have the town polled, in order to get an accurate list of the voters.

After a number of names had been added to the club's roll, speeches were made by Chas. F. Harris, W. U. Masters, and several others. Mr. Masters expressed his confidence in the ability of the Democrats to elect their ticket, and urged earnest, united work on the part of every member of the club. The club then adjourned.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

The new captain of the Salvation Army is a rustler of the proper stamp. The lately adopted zig-zag motion she gives the advancing column as it moves to and fro on Colorado street is very effective.

***

It is such weather as this that makes the heart glad and the old feel young again.

***

The keepers of hotels are looking forward to a prosperous winter. A much larger number of strangers are being entertained in town now than at this time last year, and numerous orders have been filed ahead for the accommodations by guests who will arrive later in the season. This is one of the favorable signs of the times. It means money for our innkeepers and a general revival of prosperity.

***

***

All but eleven of the electric street lamps will remain unlighted until further Councilmanic orders. While this will doubtless prove an annoyance to some of our citizens, the fact should not be forgotten that a considerable reduction is thereby effected in the city's expenses. The borough has been previously lighted by thirty-five lamps, at a cost of $17.50 per night, or fifty cents per lamp. At the same rate the present amount of electrical illumination will fizz and simmer from the wires at the rate of $5.50 per night. Here we have a saving of $12 a day, or granting that the smaller number of lamps will cost proportionately more, a reduction of $10 per day for lighting the city can safely be counted upon. This foots up a total of $3650 a year, which is a big item as money is now rated in Pasadena.

Our evening contemporary publishes in its issue of yesterday what it claims to be "the only correct programme" of the Pasadena Club's field sports for Thanksgiving day. It also adds that it was obtained from the president of the club, F. Martin Summers. THE TIMES published the same programme on Sunday, as obtained from Mr. Summers in his own handwriting. Our somewhat older friend should acquire the habit of getting the news on time.

BREVITIES.

The overland was one hour and forty minutes late yesterday.

The Athletic Club will meet tomorrow evening in the old City Hall.

A meeting of the Dramatic Club was held at the residence of Mrs. Bangs last night.

Another fine specimen of gold quartz has just been found in the vicinity of Eagle Rock.

The Y. M. C. A. concert next Tuesday evening will be the musical treat of the season.

A petition is in circulation to have the electric lamps kept lighted on Orange Grove avenue.

Young Republicans should not forget the meeting to be held this evening for the purpose of organizing a marching campaign club.

PERSONALS.

Rev. Dr. Bresee was in town yesterday.

Hon. E. F. Spence was one of the witnesses in the Monrovia water case yesterday.

Dr. A. E. Nichols and wife leave tonight for San Francisco. They will sail for Honolulu on Saturday. Their departure is regretted by a wide circle of acquaintances.

The Vegetable Eccentricity of the American Desert.

[North American Review.]

The cactuses are very peculiar plants—as peculiar structurally as they are bizarre and grotesque in outer appearance. They have spared no pains and shrunk from no sacrifice in accommodating themselves thoroughly to their niche in nature. In the first place, they have no true leaves. What look like leaves in certain jointed cactuses are really flattened and expanded stems. If this seems at first hearing a hard saying, the analogy of the common stone-crops, where stem and leaf are hardly distinguishable, will help to make it a little less incredible. In other ways, too, the stone-crops (or sedums, as gardners call them) throw much light upon the nature of the cactuses. All these rock-hunting or desert plants naturally get very little water, except at long intervals after occasional showers. Hence only those can survive which form themselves, as it were, into living reservoirs to retain all the moisture they once absorb. As soon as the rain falls in their arid haunts, the roots and rootlets eagerly drink it up in a great hurry, and store it away at once in the soft and spongy cellular tissue, of which the main part of the plant is wholly formed. For it is purpose, both in stone-crops and cactuses, the stems have become fleshy and succulent, and, being also green and leaf-like, they closely resemble true leaves. But they are covered externally with a thick skin, which resists evaporation and keeps the moisture, once collected, at the plant's disposal for an unlimited period. In short, the cactus does as a plant just what the camel does as an animal.

A New Musk Melon.

George A. Raymond, of the Palma Rancho, in Kern county, has a new musk melon. It is a cross between the banana and casaba melons, and partakes of the best qualities of both; its flavor is indscribably delicious. The melon from which these seeds were taken measured twenty-four inches in length and weighed twenty-two pounds.

ABOUT THE CITY.

The Monrovia Water Pipe Case.

A NEIGHBORHOOD QUARREL

Over the Ever-Recurring Question of Water Rights—Fewer Electric Street Lamps—Other Locals of Interest.

A small party of witnesses and interested parties gathered in Justice Van Doren's courtroom yesterday morning to testify or listen to the testimony in the Monrovia water-pipe case.

S. M. Sevier was the plaintiff, and J. C. Whittington, Howard Bowes, Geo. T. Hall, John Doe and Richard Roe the defendants. Jas. McLachlan acted as counsel for the former, and W. E. Witmer looked after the interests of the defendants. The plaintiff alleges that on or about the 18th of September last some pipe was torn up from his land. The land in question both he and Mr. Whittington wished to buy.

The testimony went to show that Mr. Sevier had shut the water off Whittington's land and that, soon after, the pipe was torn up. A number of witnesses were examined, most of whom were very reticent on the stand. The case was held under advisement.

First of the Season.

The Valley Hunt will hold its opening run of the season on Saturday. A start will be made early in the day and one of the famous cross-country runs enjoyed before luncheon, which will be served at noon in the grove back of Mr. McNally's residence, the Highlands. The club's membership has been largely increased and the prospects for a prosperous and lively winter are bright. A number of the members have signified their intention of taking part in the opening run.

Chautauquans Convene.

A meeting of the Marengo Avenue Chautauqua Circle was held Monday evening at the residence of F. D. Stevens. There were fifty persons present, an unusually large attendance. Mrs. Sedwick, Miss Wood and Mrs. Chicken rendered a vocal trio. As a part of the regular session A. F. M. Strong read an interesting paper on "English History," and Miss Wood read another on "Our English." The next meeting will be held at the residence of Miss Boynton.

Eleven Out of Thirty-five

The electric lights have ceased to glimmer save in the business thoroughfares of town. The action of Council limiting the number of street lamps to eleven has gone into effect, and now the suburban resident must either plod his homeward way at night through unlighted avenue, or else spend his evenings exclusively by the family fireside.

Lighting and Sprinkling.

The City of Pasadena, in ordering certain street lights shut off from the electric system, discriminated against some of the heaviest taxpayers. The same thing has also been done in sprinkling streets. One of the very largest taxpayers, whose residence is at least one-fourth mile nearer the center of town than many residences whose owners pay comparatively but small city taxes, complains that he has never seen a sprinkling cart in front of his place dispersing water.

Money, Stocks and Bonds.

By Telegraph to The Times.

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—MONEY—On call, easy, 4@5½ per cent.

PRIME MERCANTILE PAPER—5½@7½.

STERLING EXCHANGE—Active, weak; 60-day bills, 4.80¼, demand, 4.85¼.

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—Advices from London this morning were most depressing. The scarcity of money, traced to the precautionary action of the Imperial bank of Germany, created fear that the minimum rate of discount would be raised and the carrying of stocks rendered more expensive in the near future. Political complications between England and Portugal also had influence in creating an uneasy feeling there. Declines here were very sharp in the early trading in a few stocks, and while there was a rally in the forenoon it was feeble. No feature of interest was shown outside of a few stocks which were subjected to a severe pressure. The final losses of note are Louisville and Nashville 3¼, Northern Pacific preferred 2¾, Lackawanna 2¾, St. Paul 2, Burlington and Rock Island each 1¾, North American 1½, Reading 1¼, Cincinnati, Cleveland, Columbus and St. Louis 1⅝, Northwestern 1½, silver certificates 1½ per cent.

Government bonds were dull, but steady to firm.

THE PEOPLE'S STORE.

AN ENDLESS VARIETY OF HATS FOR LADIES

In All the Latest Styles—See the Prices Quoted for the Goods in Our Numerous Departments.

PEOPLE'S STORE,
Wednesday, Oct. 15, 1890.

There is nothing more becoming to a lady than a pretty and stylish hat, and there is no establishment in Southern California where they can find such a complete and varied line as is being shown by us this season. We have a splendid assortment of trimmed hats in very latest shapes, and trimmed with the handsomest goods the market affords. Our assortment of untrimmed hats and frames is enormous, which gives us the opportunity of suiting everyone, no matter how fastidious they may by. The trimmings which we use in making up our hats are of the finest quality only. Particular attention is paid to orders received for trimming hats, and our patrons can rest assured that their hats will leave our workroom equal in style and beauty to any imported hat brought into this country.

UNPARALLELED SUCCESS:

—: OF OUR :—

GRAND OPENING -:-

We wish to extend our sincere thanks to all who, by their attendance, assisted in making the opening of our NEW DRY GOODS HOUSE such a GREAT and UNQUALIFIED SUCCESS, EXCEEDING, as it did, our most sanguine expectations.

This auspicious inauguration of our business is naturally most encouraging and gratifying to us, for, judging by the universal expressions of admiration and delight heard by the thousands of Ladies who attended the Opening, they thoroughly appreciated the many points of superiority of our IMMENSE STOCK over any heretofore shown in this city.

WE ARE NOW READY FOR BUSINESS, and in inviting all to call and study, at their leisure, the MATCHLESS COLLECTIONS OF RICH, RARE and BEAUTIFUL STYLES and NOVELTIES embraced in our MAGNIFICENT STOCK, we assure them it will always be our aim to make our salesrooms headquarters for all that is new and fashionable in DRY GOODS, as well as for the VERY BEST VALUES IN THE MARKET, as our system of purchasing direct from manufacturers enables us to exhibit the new styles far in advance of houses that obtain their supplies through ordinary trade channels, and also enables us to place them on sale at PRICES THAT ARE BEYOND COMPETITION.

CATARRH,

THROAT DISEASES, ASTHMA, BRONCHITIS AND CONSUMPTION

Successfully treated by

M. HILTON WILLIAMS, M.D.

M. D., M. C. P. S. O.,

137 SOUTH BROADWAY,

Los Angeles, Cal.,

By his Medicated Inhalations and COMPOUND OXYGEN TREATMENT.

Probably no system of practice ever employed has been so universally successful as that introduced by Dr Williams for the cure of Catarrh, Throat Diseases, Asthma and Consumption.

CATARRH.

Catarrh is often regarded by the patient as a cold in the head, and he often expresses his a ton sument at his remarkable tendency to contract fresh cold. Indeed, he declares that he is scarcely free from one cold before he takes another, and he is always exceedingly careful; it is also a matter of surprise to him that the cold always seems to settle in the head and throat.

At times many of the symptoms of catarrh seem to abate, and the patient is led to hope that the disease is about to wear off; but another class of symptoms soon appear and he learns to his horror that, instead of recovering from the disease, it is somewhat changed in its character and has extended to the throat. A sense of weariness is sometimes felt in reading, speaking or singing, hoarseness at times occurs, a sensation of dryness is felt in the throat, or it appears that some foreign substance as, for instance, a hair obstructed the throat; there becomes a sense of languor and fatigue; the breath lessens on a little exertion, a short, hacking cough, a peculiar sound in clearing the throat, a feeling as though there was not room enough in the chest to breathe; these and other symptoms occur after the disease has made considerable progress. Then it is a time when consumption is about to begin its dreadful work. Up to this time the progress of the disease may have been slow and the patient may, in expressing his candid hope that it will "wear off," declare that he has had the catarrh for years and has not seemed to become much worse, and trusts that he will "by and by" recover. But this delusion is the grand error that has peopled our cemeteries with consumptive forms, as all forms of catarrh end finally in consumption.

Those who desire to consult me in regard to their cases had better call at the office for an examination, but if impossible to visit the office personally can write for list of questions and circular, both of which will be sent free of charge. Address
